Published by Greene County Department of Human Services since 1976

MAY 2020

These past few weeks have definitely been different from anything we have previously experienced. We came together by a new term in our vocabulary . . . social distancing. All this was due to the Coronavirus, or COVID-19.

Through it all, the Department of Human Services learned the importance of essential personnel. However, to us, it was not the people with fancy titles. It was our Senior Service Center staff. The center staff and our drivers, together with committed volunteers, worked day in and day out to get meals to the homebound county seniors. Without their teamwork, so many senior citizens would not have had meals.

Center staff went above and beyond the call of duty by preparing, cooking and distributing meals to our area seniors. Each day a few more names would be added to the list and the list would grow and grow.

They did not work alone however. RSVP volunteers willingly delivered meals to the ones who could not get out for one reason or another. Teachers and school personnel, who now do not have classrooms, foster parents and others, came forward and also offered to help feed the hungry.

Thank you are just two simple words but the deep appreciation that goes with them to our Senior Nutrition Site staff and the many volunteers is priceless and cannot be summed up in words. So we simply say thank you. (NOTE: File Photos; Camera shy - Carol Harnett & Tim McCarthy)

CAREGIVING DURING COVID-19: BE WELL WITH THESE TIPS

During periods of crisis like the COVID-19 pandemic, family members and close friends continue to provide daily care. Caregivers should develop habits and strategies to maintain their own health and well-being. This helps to both limit viral transmission and to avoid the ever-present risk of caregiver burnout. Here are some key strategies and tips for caregiving in the era of COVID-19.

Reduce Transmission of Coronavirus

Follow CDC-recommended protocols for personal and patient hygiene. Wash your hands often for at least 20 seconds, especially:

- Before, during, and after food preparation.
- After using the toilet, blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing.
- Before and after treating someone who is ill.

Stay Informed about COVID-19, But Don't Overdo It

Keep up to date on the state of COVID-19 in your area, but don't obsess and don't mistake social media opinion for fact. A constant barrage of pandemic-focused news can be mentally and emotionally overwhelming, so try to limit your intake to a certain time or times each day.

Take Care of Yourself

Your patient's well-being relies on your ability to maintain your own. To be at your best, be sure to:

- Eat healthy, balanced meals.
- Maintain a regular sleep routine.
- Find chances to exercise whenever possible.

Watch for Signs of Burnout

Caregiver burnout can happen in any caregiver-patient relationship, but the risk is heightened in times of increased stress. You may be suffering from caregiver burnout if you experience any of these problems: Hopelessness, Overwhelming anxiety, Sleep problems and/or Difficulty Coping with everyday tasks.

Consider making more time for yourself when possible. Over any amount of time, caregiving can be physically, mentally and emotionally exhausting. Learn how to halt or stop if you're feeling caregiver burnout.

Find Opportunities to Relax

Caregiving is a major responsibility, but it shouldn't completely overtake your life. Use spare moments to listen to your favorite music, read, or work on a hobby. Other options include mindfulness exercises such as meditation or creative visualization. Engage in prayer, working in a garden, or spend some time outside by taking a walk around the block (but remember to stay at least 6 feet away from others).

Stay Connected

Social distancing doesn't mean total isolation. Reach out to friends and family regularly for casual chats and wellness checks. Consider spending time together virtually, whether by watching a movie over a video chat session or playing games together online. If you live with loved ones, find ways to help and support each other.

During these uncertain times, caregivers remain a valuable constant for patients. Please stay healthy and safe as you perform your crucial role.

COVID-19 CONSUMER WARNINGS AND SAFETY TIPS

As the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic continues to impact the United States, phone scammers have seized the opportunity to prey on consumers. The FCC has received reports of scam and hoax text message campaigns and scam robocalls offering free home testing kits, promoting bogus cures, selling health insurance, and preying on virus-related fears. A text message scam may falsely advertise a cure or an offer to be tested for coronavirus. Do not click on links in texts related to the virus, and check cdc.gov/coronavirus for the most current information.

Some text scams are impersonating government agencies. The FCC recently learned of a text scam claiming to be from the "FCC Financial Care Center" and offering $30,000 in COVID-19 relief. There is no FCC program to provide relief funds to consumers. The text is likely a phishing attempt to get banking or other personal information from victims. The BBB is also warning of a text message scam impersonating the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. It informs recipients that they must take a "mandatory online COVID-19 test" using the included link.

Text message hoaxes may claim that the government will order a mandatory national two-week quarantine, or instruct you to go out and stock up on supplies. The messages can appear to be from a "next door neighbor." The National Security Council tweeted that these are fake. FEMA is tracking rumors and reminds consumers to always check a trusted source.

Scammers are also using robocalls to target consumers during this national emergency. The FCC has received reports of robocalls purporting to offer free virus test kits, in an effort to collect consumers' personal and health insurance information. One version of this scam is targeting higher risk individuals with diabetes, offering a free COVID-19 testing kit along with a free diabetic monitor. Other robocalls are marketing fake cures and asking for payment over the phone. Opportunists are also making robocalls to offer HVAC duct cleaning as a way to "protect" your home and family from the virus.

Many consumers received checks as part of the federal government response to the coronavirus. No one will call or text you to verify your personal information or bank account details in order to "release" the funds. The Treasury Department expects most people to receive their payments via direct-deposit information that the department has on file from prior tax filings.

If you think you've been a victim of a coronavirus scam, contact law enforcement immediately. The FCC offers the following tips to help you protect yourself from scams, including coronavirus scams:

- Do not respond to calls or texts from unknown numbers, or any others that appear suspicious.
- Never share your personal or financial information via email, text messages, or over the phone.
- Be cautious if you're being pressured to share any information or make a payment immediately. Scammers often spoof phone numbers to trick you into answering or responding. Remember that government agencies will never call you to ask for personal information or money.
- Do not click any links in a text message. If a friend sends you a text with a suspicious link that seems out of character, call them to make sure they weren't hacked.
- Always check on a charity (for example, by calling or looking at its actual website) before donating.

For more information about scam calls and texts, visit the FCC Consumer Help Center and the FCC Scam Glossary. You can also file a complaint about such scams at fcc.gov/complaints.

Original Medicare vs. Medicare Advantage

People with Medicare can get their health coverage through either Original Medicare or a Medicare Advantage Plan. Here's a look at the differences between these two options.

Original Medicare

The traditional program offered directly through the federal government

Medicare Advantage

Private plans that contract with the federal government to provide Medicare benefits

Original Medicare includes Part A (inpatient/hospital coverage) and Part B (outpatient/medical coverage). You will receive a red, white, and blue card to show to your providers when receiving care. Most doctors in the country take your insurance. Additionally, Medicare limits how much you can be charged if you visit participating or non-participating providers.

Medicare Advantage Plans are also known as Medicare private health plans or Part C. Some of the most common types of plans are:

- Health maintenance Organizations (HMOs)
- Preferred provider Organizations (PPOs)
- Private Fee-For-Service (PFFS)

If you join a Medicare Advantage Plan, you will not use the red, white, and blue card when you go to the doctor or hospital. Instead, you will use the membership card your plan sends you to get health services covered. Plans must provide the same benefits offered by Original Medicare, but they may apply different rules, costs, and restrictions. They also may offer certain benefits that Medicare does not cover.

If you sign up for Original Medicare and later decide you would like to try a Medicare Advantage Plan—or vice versa—be aware that there are certain enrollment periods when you are allowed to make changes.

Definitions (for chart on p. 2)

Premium: The monthly fee you pay to have Medicare.

Deductible: What you must pay out of pocket before Medicare starts paying for your care.

Copayment / Coinsurance: The amount you pay for each service.

Participating provider: Provider that accepts Medicare's approved amount as full payment.

Network: Doctors, hospitals, and medical facilities that contract with a plan to provide services.

The table below compares Original Medicare and Medicare Advantage. Remember that there are several different kinds of Medicare Advantage Plan. If you are interested in joining a plan, speak to a plan representative for more information.

	Original Medicare	Medicare Advantage
Costs	You will be charged for standardized Part A and Part B costs, including monthly Part B premium. Responsible for paying a 20% coinsurance for Medicare-covered services if you see a participating provider and after meeting your deductible.	Your cost-sharing varies depending on plan. Usually pay a copayment for in-network care. Plans may charge a monthly premium in addition to Part B premium.
Supplemental insurance	Have the choice to pay an additional premium for a Medigap to cover Medicare cost-sharing.	Cannot enroll in a Medigap plan.
Provider access	Can see any provider and use any facility that accepts Medicare (participating or non-participating).	Typically can see only in-network providers.
Referrals	Do not need referrals for specialists.	Typically need referrals for specialists.
Drug coverage	You must sign up for a stand-alone prescription drug plan	In most cases, plan provides prescription drug coverage (you may be required to pay higher premium).
Other benefits	Does not cover vision, hearing, or dental services.	May cover additional services, including vision, hearing, and/or dental (additional benefits may increase your premium and/or other out-of-pocket costs).
Out-of-pocket limit	No out-of-pocket limit.	Annual out-of-pocket limit. Plan pays the full cost of your care after you reach the limit.

News From the Greene County Youth Bureau

Held each year in July, the Greene County Youth Fair is one of very few fairs around the country that offers free admission and entertainment for all ages. The fair celebrates the accomplishments of area youth who will keep our agricultural legacy alive for years to come. The Greene County Youth Fair has a long distinguished history of dedication to the youth of Greene County.

Alfred Partridge, leader of the Ashland Blue Ribbon 4-H Club, organized a 4-H Club Fair in 1949 to give his club members an opportunity to display their projects. From this small beginning, the youth fair has developed into the showcase it is today. In 1951, the fair was held in Jewett and other 4-H Club members in the area joined in. From 1952-1956, the 4-H Club Fair, as it was then known, was held at the VFW Hall on Route 23 near Windham. In 1954 the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets recognized the fair as an agricultural fair. By this time, the fair was officially called the Greene County Youth Fair and open to all youth in Greene County.

By 1957 the fair had expanded to two dairy tents, a poultry and rabbit tent, and a sheep and goat tent. A new home was found at the Durham Central School on Route 145. In addition to the tent space outside, there was ample space in the school for food and clothing exhibits, vegetables, flowers, entomology, arts and crafts. During the late 1960s, a trade tent was added by the local merchants, as was a horse show, and the fair became a three-day event. The Greene County Youth Fair stayed at the Durham School for 38 years, with the exception of 1973 when, due to alterations at the school, the fair was held at the Durham Town Building on Route 81.

In the fall of 1995 a committee was formed to find a new home for the fair. The Town of Cairo was more than willing to offer the use of Angelo Canna Town Park and a new chapter in the fair's history began. With more area to work with, the fair continued to add more activities — kiddie rides, a kiddie tractor pull, bee-keeping exhibit, maple syrup equipment displays and ongoing entertainment.

The fair was extended to a four-day event in 2001. In 2002 the youth fair had a new attraction, an agricultural tent, bustling with activities to educate and entertain visitors of all ages. Part of the tent was filled with youth displays and agriculture, as well as forestry and conservation displays for adults. An activities area for children included a course for youngsters to ride pedal tractors, plus ring toss and sand jar art with livestock grains.

Today, the fair attracts more than 20,000 people and is one of the only fairs in New York State to offer free admission and entertainment. It is impossible to know how many young people have been involved in exhibiting and participating in the Greene County Youth Fair over the years. There are statistics indicating more than 2,000 exhibits had been made numerous years. The pride of achievement, the wonderful fun times and the friendships made are all great memories for those who participated.

If all goes well, the Greene County Youth Fair will celebrate 66 years this summer. Join us, Thursday, July 23 through Sunday, July 26, and come to the fair!
